WHAT'S NEW ON DHELIDA PROJECT?

DHeLiDA Training in Foligno, Italy

On the 28-29-30th June, the DHeLiDA partnership alongside with their chosen trainers gathered in Foligno, Italy to hold the Learning, Teaching and Training activity. The aim of the training was to present the project in more detail to newcomers and to demonstrate the developed Digital Health Framework and the Platform for Collective Awareness on Digital Health that aim to raise awareness on digital health literacy and help disadvantaged adults to gain new digital competences in this field. Trainers at their end will be further spreading the word about the project and its results and in the coming months they will organize trainings for beneficiaries to enhance their skills and improve their health literacy.

During the three days of the training professionals from five European countries had the opportunity to exchange experience and knowledge in the field of adult education and learn from each other.

NEXT STEPS – Finalising DHeLiDA Platform

DHeLiDA Platform contains a training toolkit with 11 modules and also information on digital health literacy and learning materials that aim to improve the digital health literacy of disadvantaged adults.

In the coming months the trainers will pilot training pathways in their countries with adults with fewer opportunities to test the created materials. When the training toolkit is finalized, the partners will translate the content in their languages and all materials will become accessible via the project website www.dhelida.eu.

For more information on the project, please visit www.dhelida.eu or contact the project partner in your country, contact data are available on the website.
